At the beginning of 1944, Division 15 received a further major influx of skills when it took over the Airborne Instruments Laboratory at

Mineola, Long Island. Dr. Guy Suits told the author how he was able to acquire the laboratory as a going concern:

"This outfit had been part of Division 6 working on submarine detection methods, and had developed and put into service the magnetic detector used with some success by the US Navy. But by the end of 1943, that work was complete and AIL had worked itself out of a job. Dr. Donald Hare, in charge of the laboratory, was a very able guy and he had some very able people. And at that time, Division 15 was still expanding and as always, we were finding it hard to get enough of the right people. So, at the beginning of 1944, the AIL and its entire staff of 180, about a quarter the size of RRL at that time, was incorporated into Division 15."
